Format, Regulation Changes Marked in '57 MWC Handbook

During the summer a copy of the 1957-58 Handbook was sent to all new students and to Handbook counsellors. Through the combined efforts of Student Government officers, Joint Council members, and the office of the Dean of Students the old Bayonet was revised and retitled.

Obvious changes in the publication can easily be observed; it is twenty pages shorter and is narrower; it has an alphabetical table of contents, a directory, a revision of the Honor Code statement, and a list of officers of student organizations. Missing from the 34th edition are the Inter-Club, YWCA, and RA sections, together with several social regulations.

Rule Changes

Among the most important rule changes this semester are the following:

1. No lights out for sophomores and upper classmen; freshmen have midnight lights Sunday through Friday.
2. No specific study hour quiet periods; from 7:30 p.m. on, students are expected to be quiet and considerate of others.
3. Seniors and juniors have midnight permission on Friday nights, seniors have one o'clock Saturday; juniors have three one o'clocks a semester.
4. The college restriction on drinking at Quantico has been removed.
5. Students are allowed greater choice of hotels when visiting Washington, D. C., or Richmond.
6. On-campus dates do not have to be signed out.
7. Telephones may be used until dorm closing hours.
8. Class distinctions regarding trips to town no longer exist; after 6:00 p.m. all girls going off-campus must be in groups of three.
9. No regulations govern walking.

Chancellor's Message

To The New Students and the Old:

Norman Douglas brings his novel "SOUTH WIND" to a conclusion by having the elderly and momentarily befuddled Mr. Keith say to a rather unsavory character, "We are all at the mercy of youth, Mr. Ritchard. Could you oblige me with a fairy tale." What Mr. Keith at long last realized was that the young man of the story had finally matured into a real personality. Even more so, he was forced to recognize that what he had only recently witnessed was a great moment in human experience. Therefore, he sought what was for him the best way of escaping the reality—a fairy tale.

I bring this bit of fiction to your attention because I want you to know that I, and Mary Washington College, prefer to take our chances and to do our job at the mercy of young people, rather than to listen to a fairy tale. Likewise, I am wondering whether in the next few weeks you begin to create a fairy tale of a college, or more hopefully, you anticipate accepting the responsibilities of maturity which will in time place all of us and your college at your mercy. If you have chosen the fairy tale, you will begin to fool yourself, waste your time, spend money uselessly—but chiefly you will have failed in your task and denied your heritage, before the first sun has set on your college career. If, however, you are coming to college because you feel the need to prepare yourself to play your part in the larger life of the race of man, then you will find that your teachers and your classmates, your parents and your friends of previous years will wish ultimately to be at your mercy, will profit from the awareness of your enthusiasm and your vitality, will take pride in the growth of

Academic Program Includes New Dept. and New Courses

Among the changes in the academic program at Mary Washington for the first semester this year is a reorganization of the former courses offered in Latin, Greek, and Ancient Civilization into a new Department of Classics. Under this head will be included courses in Greek and Roman Civilization (formerly Culture of the Ancient Mediterranean World), Classical Art and Architecture, Latin and Greek Literature in Translation, as well as courses in the Latin and Greek languages.

Academic Dean Edward Alvey Jr., also has announced that this year there will be a new language laboratory for the Spanish courses. It is anticipated that each of the beginning Spanish classes will spend two of the five days each week in the lab, which will be equipped with phones, tape recorders, etc.

Course Offerings

New courses to be offered this year include ones in Landscape Design, Greek Civilization, Advanced French conversation, and Cervantes.

Courses offered in alternate years which will be given in 1957 include Renaissance Art, Roman Satire and Epic Poetry, Public Finance, Intermediate Economic Analysis, Government and Business, Eighteenth Century Literature, Chaucer, Milton and the Seventeenth Century, Survey of French Literature, French Theatre, Nineteenth Century French Literature, French Novel, Origin and Development of Language, Latin American History, Constitutional History of the United States, Social and Intellectual History of the United States, Beginning Italian, Advanced Calculus, Higher Algebra, Opera, Studies in Musical Style, Oriental Philosophy, Political Philosophy, Atomic Physics, Electricity and Magnetism, International Law, Government and Business, Political Philosophy, Intermediate Portuguese, Psychology of Counseling, Sociology of Leadership, History of Social Theory, The Novel of Spain, and Modern Writers of Spain.

Six hundred and thirty-three new students enter MWC today to begin their college careers. The 586 members of the Class of '61, together with forty-seven transfer students, commence an active orientation program tonight with a Welcome from officers of the major student organizations, and continue during the coming week with speeches, meetings, handbook training, parties, classes, and convocation.

To greet them as they enter are the officers and members of the Student Government Association, Inter-Club Council, Honor Council, YWCA, and Recreation Association, who are dressed in white and are stationed around the campus to guide and inform the new students.

Orientation Schedule

Starting on Monday, September 16, the freshmen will be greeted by college Chancellor Grellet Simpson and Dean Edward Alvey Jr. Then, in groups of ten to fifteen, they will have conferences with their advisors. An innovation this year will be additional individual afternoon conferences.

After lunch will be the language placement tests, which will be given before registration this semester for the first time. After Handbook training with counsellors in the afternoon, there will be a party in Monroe gym during the evening.

On Tuesday the new students register in alphabetical order and take their reading tests. During the evening there will be a speech by Miss Hargrove, the dean of Students, and a program by Cap and Gown, the senior honorary. Following Handbook training will be floor parties, which give students a chance to meet the "neighbors" for the coming year. On Wednesday morning SGA and Honor Council jointly present a program at G.W., which will be followed by Honor Code training. On Wednesday night at the opening convocation of the year Dr. Simpson will speak to all students.

Classes start on Thursday, and during the evening a panel will be held on Student Problems. Honor Code training will follow. On Friday night the traditional "Meet Your Minister Night" will be held, to be followed by gatherings of the various campus religious groups.

Saturday afternoon new students are invited to Chancellor and Mrs. Simpson's garden party at Brompton, and Saturday night there will be a dance for new students. The end of the first week of school will be marked by Big-Little Sister Church Day and a picnic-dinner in the evening.

Pre-School Meeting Plans Year's Activities

The fourth annual Pre-School Conference of the Student Government Association of MWC commenced 2:00 p.m. Friday, September 13. The theme of the conference this year was "What Can S. G. A. Do?" in various fields of college life. On Friday Dr. Simpson spoke on "The Problems the Leader Faces," and Miss Hargrove discussed the topic, "Student Government: A Reality and an Ideal." This first meeting was followed by a picnic at Framar and another meeting at 7:00, when a panel discussing the specific problems of small dorm, town and transfer student was held.

Fourteen New Instructors Join Faculty; Benton, Luntz Appointed Dept. Chairmen

Croushore Heads English Staff

Dr. Grellet Simpson announced during the summer the following faculty appointments for the coming year. Dr. Rachel Jane Benton, acting professor and chairman of the physical education department; Mr. Eric Isenburger, visiting professor in art; Dr. George E. Luntz, acting professor and chairman of the music department; as assistant professors, Dr. Milton Holmes Hodge, Jr., psychology, Dr. William E. Montague, psychology.

Dr. Winifred W. Updike, chemistry, Dr. Herman Lynn Womack, philosophy and psychology; and Dr. Daniel Holt Woodward, English; and, as instructors, Mrs. Juliette Brefford Blessing, French, Miss Mary Gay Calcott and Miss Marguerite Carol Pitts, English; Mr. Dean Marfield Mullavey, art; Mrs. Lola Tompkins, economics and business administration and Miss Eula Douglas Turner, physical education.

Other Changes

Dr. Simpson also announced the appointment of Dr. James H. Croushore, a member of the faculty since 1947, as chairman of the English department, succeeding Dr. Shankle. Leaves of absence are to be granted to Mr. Julian

Dr. Woodward

Dr. Benton

Dr. Hodge

Binford, professor in art, Mr. Hubert C. Shull, assistant professor in chemistry, and Mrs. Elena Krupenski, instructor in ceramics. Rejoining the faculty after leave of absence are Dr. Kurt Leidecker, associate professor in philosophy, and Mr. William C. Pinchmidt Jr., instructor in biology.

Dr. Benton comes to the faculty from Northwestern University where she headed the physical education department for women since 1948. A graduate of DePaw University, she earned her M. A. and Ph.D. at the State University of Iowa. In November of last year she received an honor award from the Illinois Association of Health, Physical Education and Recreation for "outstanding service" to physical education in Illinois. Miss Benton succeeds Miss Ruth Leonard who resigned last June.

Artist Joins Staff

Mr. Isenburger, now a United States citizen, is a native of Frankfurt-am-Main, Germany, and a graduate of the Realgymnasium there as well as a former student of painting at its School of Art. He has given one-man shows eight times in New York's Knoedler Galleries and others in New York, San Francisco, at Mary Washington and elsewhere throughout the country. Among awards given him are the National Academy of

Welcome

A short note from an unknown "Big Sister," a warm and friendly handclasp, and the traditional MWC Beanie have already welcomed the Class of '61. During the coming weeks the freshmen will be greeted by almost every campus organization and by many members of the faculty and administration. The staff of The Bullet would like to add another word of welcome to the new "Devils," and to offer every incoming student best wishes for a successful year. At the same time we would like to greet returning students and faculty members and give a special welcome to the new members of the faculty and administration.

With this issue The Bullet commemorates its 30th year of publication; during the next ten months we hope to serve the student community with the best newspaper possible. One innovation has already been made: seven thousand Mary Washington graduates are receiving this Special Issue of The Bullet, and we hope that they, together with our on-campus readers, will find much to interest them here and in the months to come. Again we say, "Welcome . . . Everyone!"

Orientation

The college orientation calendar for 1957 seems at first glance to prove only that perpetual motion does exist—in the person of the college freshman. The program, however, has several purposes, both from the point of view of the entering student and from that of the college itself. On one hand, it furnishes the administration with an opportunity to present some of the features of life on the Hill; it also helps them orient new students and ease college adjustment. Secondly, the placement tests help evaluate the freshmen's scholastic background so that class registration is facilitated.

From another viewpoint, the seemingly perpetual round of parties, dances, get-togethers, and meetings provide the new student with a chance to "get acquainted," she has her first look at professors, classmates, and eligible men. The Handbook "training sessions" and the big-little sister program give her an opportunity to come in close contact with upper classmen whose attitudes and experience are a major factor in determining her ideas about college life.

The MWC orientation program, which has been renovated this year, is pointed at effectively adapting the student to this new and startlingly different environment. The success of the program may be measured on two levels. One, from its immediate use; how well it aids the new student to meet the demands which she faces for the first time. The other, and far more important, it seems to us, is how well it helps the student to develop basic attitudes toward college life and set standards which can endure for four years.

Attention . . . Byline Hunters!

Did you write for your high school newspaper? Would you like to enter the fields of advertising or journalism after graduation? Or do you just have a "nose for news," and would like to find out more about what's going on at MWC? No matter if you're a "pro"—a former editor or newspaper reporter—or a rank amateur, with no experience but a willingness to work, you are invited to the Bullet seminars to be held in the Bullet News Room in the basement of Custis dormitory on September 23, 25, and 30 at 5:00 p.m.

The seminars will be led by the "masthead editors" of the Bullet staff, Bernice Bramson, Leigh Goodrich, and Judy Townsend, and will be approximately three-quarters of an hour long. Discussions will cover all phases of newspaper problems with emphasis on Bullet usage and policy.

Students who wish to work on the newspaper staff as news reporters, feature writers, copy and proof readers, cartoonists, photographers, or be members of the advertising and circulation staffs, are welcome to attend these meetings. Sophomores and juniors who are interested in the paper are urged to attend.

Welcome!

Dear Mary Washington Student,

I want to take this opportunity to share with you some information about one of our most cherished possessions here at the college—The Honor System.

We at Mary Washington assume that each one of our fellow students has a firm desire to uphold what is right and honorable, and that she realizes the priceless treasure she has in her personal integrity. Our Honor System is based on the idea that every student at Mary Washington wants and is able to attain a high standard of honor in her academic life. It assumes that because of this common belief in honesty we can all live together in freedom and trust.

We feel that as a student at Mary Washington you have a double responsibility. First, you have agreed to live by the provisions of the Honor Code, and you are responsible for finding out the school's interpretation of these provisions. When you sign the Honor Pledge Card, you will be stating that you understand fully and accept our Honor Code. You will find a full explanation of the Code in the student handbook; and also, more than willing to talk to you at any time will be the class presidents, who compose the Council, the Honor Committee Counselor who has been appointed to your dormitory, or any of the Honor Committee Counselors who are explaining the Honor System to the freshmen.

Provisions

At this time I want to mention a few of the most important provisions of the Honor System. It defines broadly, of course, the acts which are felt without question to be dishonest. They are lying, cheating, stealing, and breaking one's word of honor. Because we do not want a girl who has no sense of honor to remain in our college community, the penalty for violating the Honor System is always dishonorable dismissal. We hope you will realize that, for an Honor System such as ours, to work, each student must take the responsibility for its enforcement.

I would also like to call to your attention the following sections of the revised explanation of the Honor System in this year's student handbook. Since these provisions did not appear in last year's Bayonet, I hope you will pay particular attention to them.

1. Plagiarism or copying word for word from a book for term papers or other written work without proper footnotes, acknowledgments, or quotation marks is of course a violation of the Honor System. A student must understand thoroughly and follow closely the directions about term papers given her by her professor.

2. If there is ever any doubt in her mind about the conditions un-

The following question was asked of certain entering freshmen: What do you expect of Mary Washington College and what will your goals be? Their answers are printed within space limitations. Pat Howard, Louisville, Ky. Our first thought of college is usually one of happy, carefree years. But when we pursue this thought more seriously, we also begin to expect something deeper and more beneficial from our college. Conditions which will aid in the development of intellectual and social capacities, essential for effective modern living, form the main of our expectations, but underlying this is the common desire of each girl to know herself. It is only through setting our standards high and exercising our abilities that we can achieve this, and reach the ultimate goal, that being to become a mature, thinking individual.

Betsy Ottley, Richmond, Virginia. I am going to college. It sounds important and big, and it is important and big. People ask me if I'm excited. I'm so excited I could pop, but I'm also very scared. I never realized until recently how important college is. It is the time when a girl is developed into womanhood. . . . First I have to find out who I am and what my goal in life is to be. Everything I do at Mary Washington will help me decide. I am determined to study hard, and absorb, as much as possible, what is offered to me.

Mary Washington has such a beautiful campus and fine administration I know it wouldn't be possible for me to live here without soaking in the friendly spirit that prevails. With that spirit I know I will be happy here. I can't wait to meet my new friends—I can't wait to meet my professors—and I can't wait to join in all the hustle and bustle of campus clubs and activities. Each of these will be most important in helping me decide my future.

Susan Kling, Fayette, West Va. First, I expect to gain the proper education, which I will need in attaining my final goal. Also I hope to gain a certain amount of culture and a warmer understanding of the early history of our country at Mary Washington. One of my foremost expectations is to gain new and lasting friends, and to be included in the various organizations.

Through all this, my final aim is to transform myself into a better person and a better citizen.

Kay Slaughter, Richmond, Va. I expect three basic things from college: 1. pleasing campus life; 2. independence; 3. preparation for a vocation. First, college must act as a community in which the student which the professor desires the work to be done, it is her responsibility to find out his requirements; for example, concerning laboratory drawings, language translations, parallel reading, etc. 3. Though any student at any time should feel obligated to investigate and accuse anyone who she feels has violated the Honor Code, the Honor Committee wishes to remind the student body that the basic principle governing the Honor System is that any person is assumed to be innocent until proven guilty.

4. A student must report any missing articles to the Honor Committee Counselor in her dormitory. She will give the counselor a description of the article lost, the time and place last seen, and any other information which she may need for her files.

5. It is essential that the Honor System shall concern itself mainly with academic matters and the word of honor of the individual student given to her professors, members of the college staff, and dent must adapt herself. Also important, however, is the independence I will gain here. Daily decisions will have to be made without the help of parents. New ideas, whether philosophical or social must be accepted or rejected. . . . I am also looking forward to the studies I will pursue. Now I will choose from a wider range of courses. I will have the chance to learn many interesting things and to decide what profession I should enter.

Thus, MWC offers to me the opportunities to develop in each of these three ways: as a friend, as an individual, and as a student. I know I'm going to enjoy all of it. Lee Smith, Tampa, Florida. Education can bring many valuable assets: for example, personal maturity, the right to be an individual, and the ability to get along with all kinds of people. However, I expect of Mary Washington, as of all other things of value, exactly what I put in to it. My goal? I believe that here I will be offered opportunities helping me to fulfill my goals in life, these being to worship God, to express myself, and to serve people.

Nan Miller, Norfolk, Va. Through and since high school, my goal has been the same: to maintain a temperate viewpoint, to develop a rational and completely positive manner of thinking, and to build a "working" sense of ideals and values. I hope to achieve this goal by making sensible use of the opportunities available to the Mary Washington College student.

At Mary Washington I expect to find work, fun, and friendship. I expect to find a spirit of happy, "down-to-earth" living among the students, and of sincerity in student-faculty relationships. I expect, simply, to find the basis for a happy and fruitful life.

Sue Worsham, Petersburg, Va. . . . I know it will be a great change from everything I learned in high school, and I know it won't be easy. I am sure though that I am going to love every minute I spend at MWC. I hope that I will be able to live up to what is expected of me. The main reason for my attending college is of course to further my education, so that when I graduate, I may make a place for myself in society. . . .

MWC will be the turning point in my life where in a sense I will either "sink or swim." I am going to do my best to keep my head above water, because I know how important it is to get a good start. Lis Reddick, Danville, N. J. Actually goal and expectation go hand-in-hand. I will have the chance to meet new friends and

Personal Honor

On the other hand, you as a student at Mary Washington will also have the responsibility for developing your own personal standards of honor. You will accept the broad outlines laid down by the Honor System, but these outlines provide only a general framework. We hope that you will gradually build up a personal code of honor to guide you in interpreting the Honor System and in conducting your own life. We want every student to feel that these broad outlines are only a reflection of her own personal attitudes, to realize that actually the Honor System exists within her, and rises or falls according to her own moral standards.

Please think very carefully about your responsibility to our Honor System and to Mary Washington. If I can help you in any way, please let me know.

Yours very truly,

Ruth McCulloch,

President, Honor Committee

System Revised by Honor Committee

This year the Honor Committee has initiated two new methods of presenting the Honor System to the student body—a freshman orientation program, and a system of Honor Committee Counsellors in each dormitory.

In order to give special training to new students at Mary Washington, a series of programs, arranged much like the Handbook Counselling, has been planned. They will give all students an opportunity to meet with trained counsellors, discuss the Honor System, and come to understand its provisions more clearly.

Approximately 50 girls, carefully selected and trained, will be responsible for conducting these small-group discussions, and for making certain that every student understands the Honor System.

A series of three or four meetings, an hour long each, has been planned, during which time the counsellors will review and discuss each phase of the Honor System and its application in the lives of students.

The Honor Committee has also appointed to each dormitory an Honor Committee Counsellor, who will be responsible for helping students in her dormitory in matters where the Honor System is concerned.

A resident of the dormitory herself, she will be available at all times to answer any questions which students may have. Whenever necessary she will discuss the Honor System with members of her dormitory. She will also conduct lost and found services; students will be urged to report all missing articles to her.

The girls who have been selected to serve in this capacity are: Ball—Lois Lambert; Madison—Marie Claditis; Custis—Nancy Snook; Westmoreland—Edith Sheppard; Randolph—Tina Baensch; Mason—Barbara Bache; Virginia—B. J. Cox; Fairfax—Laura Baker; Marye—Eleanor Goldstein; Spotswood—Marty Spilman.

Facts on the Faculty

During the summer members of the faculty and administration were busy with various occupations, trips, and extra courses.

Dr. Clyde Carter, for example, served at the Naval Air Station Oceana at Virginia Beach for his two weeks of active reserve duty as a Chaplain. Miss Miriam Greenberg was a counselor at a New England camp, where a fire destroyed almost all of her belongings.

Several faculty members continued advanced studies at various institutions in the vicinity. Miss Margery Arnold took several courses at the summer school of the University of Maryland. Miss Frances Snyder studied at University of Virginia, where Miss Mary Jo Parrish received her Ph.D. in Biology.

Dr. R. L. Hildrup, a professor of history, was a member of the summer faculty at Longwood College, while Dr. H. Lynn Womack taught two education courses at University of Virginia summer school. Dr. Michael Erdelyi, who had planned to teach at the City College of New York, suffered a heart attack soon after his arrival in New York and was not able to fulfill his teaching assignment. After making excellent progress he was released from the hospital in August.

Conference and conventions around the country were also attended by MWC representatives this summer. Dr. Edward Alvey Jr., dean of the college, represented MWC at the National Education Association Centennial Convocation in Philadelphia on July 3. He was leader of one of the discussion groups scheduled that afternoon. Dr. Laura V. Sumner, assistant professor of classics, attended the Annual Conference of the American Classical League at Miami University in Oxford, Ohio, where she gave a paper on "The Use of Visual Aids in the Teaching of Latin in College." Dr. W. W. Griffith and Dr. J. H. Croushore of the English department recently attended the English Institute at Columbia University. Dr. W. B. Kelly, also of the English Department attended the annual meeting of the Modern Language Association in Madison, Wisconsin.

Traveling to New York were Dr. Simpson, Mr. Blinford, Mr. Cecere, and Mr. Isenberger, who visited galleries to select paintings to be exhibited in the second Mary Washington Annual Exhibition of Contemporary Art which will be held in November. Other travelers were Dr. Louis J. Cabrera of the Spanish department, who spent the summer in the various countries of Central America, and Dr. Edwin Jones who spent the summer in France.

Dr. Carrol H. Quenzel, librarian, has received a gift to the E. Lee Trinkle Library of approximately 50 books and five paintings from the estate of the late Miss Mary Braxton of Fredericksburg. The books were collected by the late Wistar Braxton and members of his family. The library also added a tremendous collection of Russian books—novels, scientific studies, etc., to its collection this summer.

325 Make Dean's List

The dean's list for second semester of 1957 contained the names of 325 students who received a "B" average and no grade below a "C". Straight "A's" were received by nine students: Jane Baptist of Petersburg, Patricia Brock of Norfolk, Anne dePorcy of Forest, Mildred Fodrie of Fredericksburg, Ann Humphreys of Roanoke, Nancy Warren of Lynchburg, Margaret Estrabrooks Bradley of Charlottesville, Nancy Foley of Nantuxatuck, Conn., and Carolyn Six Herel of Albany, N. Y.

Mail Box Added

Something new has been added: A U.S. Mail Box has been set up in front of Ann Carter Lee to receive mail and eliminate the walk to the post office. This convenience was arranged through student government and the office of the Dean of Students, and was procured in Washington, D. C. The Mail collections will be at 12:55 p.m., 5:45 p.m., and 8:00 p.m. daily, and 4:00 p.m. on Sundays and holidays.

WMC contemporary art exhibit will be held from Nov. 1 to Nov 15 this year, not from Nov. 15 on as announced in the Handbook.

Frosh to be Housed In Five Dormitories

Freshmen dormitory placement this year finds 569 students accommodated in five main dorms, including about 48 students who are scattered about upperclass dorms, especially Mason and Randolph.
 Transfers this year will be placed with their classmates, rather than living in a dormitory by themselves, as they have done in past years. Willard, as usual, is the largest freshman residence, with about 260 students. There will be approximately 95 freshmen in Virginia, 84 in Betty Lewis, 82 in Cornell, and 24 in Trench Hill. The 95 girls in Virginia are only a part of the total; there are 117 sophomores also in residence there.
 There are no temporary spaces this year. Freshmen who are assigned to sophomore rooms may need to remain in these rooms all year for lack of other space. There are also 13 day students in the class of '61, and eight day students among transfers. There are approximately 1468 dormitory residents and 45 day students at MWC; however, the total enrollment will probably reach 1550 by the time classes convene.

MRS. MARGARET LODGE COPES

Mrs. M. L. Copes Named To Association Presidency Major, Steele, also elected

Mrs. Margaret Lodge Copes, Class of '32, was elected President of the Alumnae Association for 1957-58 at April Homecoming last year. Also elected were Mrs. Jane Hatcher Major, '40, Vice-President and Miss Doris Virginia Steele, '52, Secretary.

Many Activities

While at Mary Washington the present Mrs. Peter Davis Copes was President of the Athletic Association, treasurer of the Leaders Club, a member of the Bullet staff, a cheerleader, a member of Betty Lewis and Willard House Council, and on the basketball, swimming, hockey, and baseball teams. Since her graduation she has been president of the Accomack County Senior Woman's Club, Parliamentarian of the Woman's Club, the district chairman of the Salvation Army, a teacher and leader of the Young Adults at the Olney Methodist Episcopal Church, a member of the Board of Directors, Children's Home Society of Virginia, Society for Crippled Children, and the N.A. Memorial Hospital. She is past president of the Accomack Hospital Auxiliary. Her activities within the Alumnae Association include Founder, director, and president of the Eastern Shore Chapter, and past secretary of the National Alumnae Association.

Marge, who lives in Olney, Va., has three children, Mary Will, a senior at Randolph Macon Woman's College, Tom, a student at Hargraves Military Academy, and Susan, a third grader. For the past twenty-one years she has been vice-president and secretary-treasurer of the Copes Ice and Coal Company, which she and her husband own.

Other Officers

Mrs. William L. Major, whose home is presently in Richmond, was a transfer to Mary Washington from Averett Junior College in 1938. While at MWC she was a member of the Cottillon Club, a member of May Court for two years, and a student aid to the physical education department. She is presently an active member of the First Baptist Church of Richmond, a member of the American Guild of Organists, and President of the Richmond Chapter of MWC Alumnae Association. Jane has one daughter, Rebecca Jayne, four.

Doris Steele, the new secretary, was a member of Y Cabinet, Baptist Student Union, Science Club, Mike Club, and choir while at MWC. She is presently a chemist for the U. S. Naval Ordnance Laboratory in Silver Spring, Maryland. Since graduation she has been the organizer and two year president and present Director of the Maryland-Suburban Chapter of the Alumnae Association. She is also the chairman of the Voting Committee of the Association. She is active in leadership of the Pioneer Girl movement, and a member of the Chemical Society.

Alumnae Daughters Among Class of '61

Fourteen daughters and one granddaughter of Mary Washington alumnae will be among entering freshmen this year. The Alumnae Daughters Club, headed by Mary Massey, has welcomed them with letters during the past summer, and will greet them during Orientation week.

Alumnae Letter

Olney, Va.

Dear Alumnae,

The fine cooperation that I have encountered since being elected your president in April has warmed my heart. Many thanks! I know that I can do nothing without you and your chapter, and I am counting on you to stand behind me and to give the Alumnae Association the strength it must have.

I am so grateful for the fine corps of officers you have given me. They have all worked very diligently with me through the summer months. I am also happy to announce that Mrs. Kelly has reconsidered and remains our faculty advisor.

The year 1958 presents to us, the alumnae, the greatest challenge we have ever faced. It is the 50th birthday of our Alma Mater! This will be an exciting and inspiring year. It gives to us, the alumnae, a golden opportunity to prove our worth! At the general meeting in April, the Association accepted the recommendation that we make every effort to increase our endowment fund in 1958 in honor of the 50th anniversary of our college. A committee is now busy, planning ways and means to do this. This will be our big project for the year. If each alumna will do her part, success must follow. You will be hearing from the committee. Please meet the challenge!

If you are not a member of any chapter, join one. They need you and you will enjoy renewing old friendships, and recalling school experiences. Write to your Alumnae office for the name of the chapter nearest you. If there is none, form one!

There is another birthday on the Hill in 1958. It is the 30th birthday of the Bullet! We hope you like this issue of the school newspaper with your Alumnae Supplement. Since no action was taken on future publications at the general meeting in April, and since no

New Editorial Arrangement Includes Bullet Supplement

The Executive Committee of the Alumnae Association decided during the summer to revise the former Bulletin publication system. The action was taken provisionally, for the Board of Directors will make a final decision on the plan at their October meeting. During the coming year, according to tentative plans, the Bullet will present four special Alumnae Supplement issue; the present one, November 22, March 7 (a special 30th anniversary issue), and May 2. Miss Judith Townsend, Editor-in-Chief of the student newspaper, will act as Editorial Advisor to the Association for the supplement.

MISS EMMA TINKEN

'57 Grad Remains Association Sec'y

Emma Wilhelmina Tinken, class of '57, will be the Acting Executive Secretary of the Alumnae Association for 1957-58. She held a Student Aid position during 1956-57 in the Alumnae Office, and she has agreed to continue in that capacity for the coming year.

A graduate of Thomas Jefferson High School in Richmond, Miss Tinken presently hails from Arippeka, Fla., where her family moved in April. She attended Averett Junior College in Danville before coming to Mary Washington in 1955. A sociology major, she was a member of Sigma Omega Chi and B.S.U. while on the Hill.

She has worked during the summers for the Southern Department Stores in Richmond, and last summer on the Home Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention in St. Louis.

Present figures show that the new arrangement will allow the Alumnae Association to operate this service for all past graduates of MWC at a substantial savings over the old method of publishing a separate Bulletin four times a year. The cost of publication was reduced so phenomenally that the Association is able to include all past graduates in the plan. At action taken at the April, 1956, meeting of the Board, it was decided that the Bulletin would be printed off-campus for one year; however this arrangement was found to be unsatisfactory because of printing costs and lateness of news. It seemed only wise to transfer the organ to the MW campus where more effective editorial and printing arrangements could be made. The Executive Committee had no other choice in this decision; however, it must be ratified by the Board in October.

Arrangements in effect now have the Alumnae office compiling, gathering, and editing news for various chapters and classes, while Miss Townsend will do the layout and rewriting on most of the articles used. The four pages of the Alumnae supplement will have almost 8500 readers according to the latest figures.

It is hoped that this new system, which will make for a more alive contact between alumnae and undergraduates, will also present fresh and interesting campus news to graduates and give present students a fuller understanding of how the Alumnae Association works to serve them.

Mrs. Camilla M. Payne Heads Alum Endowment Committee

Courtesy Colony Studios
MRS. CAMILLA PAYNE

At the executive committee meeting of the Alumnae Association in August, Mrs. Camilla Moody Payne was appointed chairman of the Alumnae Endowment Committee by Association President Mrs. Peter D. Copes. Mrs. Payne will head the committee whose purpose, is to increase the endowment fund of the college in special commemoration of the 50th Anniversary year of Mary Washington. During the year Mrs. Payne's committee hopes to contact every past graduate of the college either by letter or personally through Alumnae chapter meetings, and thus stimulate the interest of graduates in the present college.

The endowment fund was started by the Fredericksburg Chapter of the Alumnae Association several years ago, and that chapter has been the main contributor to it. Now it is planned to expand the fund so that it can meet present college needs and also help every Mary Washington alumna feel herself a part of the continuing school spirit.

Mrs. Payne, who will work with Mrs. Phoebe Enders in promoting the fund, has a B.S. degree from MWC and a M.A. from George Washington University. She has been in the interior decorating business since 1932, and she has owned her own business since 1947. She is presently at work refurbishing and redecorating President Eisenhower's guest house, the former Blair and Blair-Lee mansions. Mrs. Payne is a member of Pi Lambda Theta, the honorary education sorority; the American Association of University Women, and the National Home Fashions League, Inc.

Honors Given Graduates

At June Commencement

College and civic awards were presented to members of the Class of '57 for outstanding college achievement at Class Day and graduation this year. The Thomas Jefferson Cup, an Alumnae award for service to the school, was presented to Joanne Insley, who also received the Fredericksburg area Alumnae Award for the highest scholastic average of a local resident.

The Alpha Phi Sigma Award for the highest scholastic average throughout four years of college was presented to Barbara Pultz Young and Ann Kathryn Humphreys, both of Roanoke, who were Dean's List students for seven semesters.

Peggy and Patsy Preston jointly received the Fredericksburg Kiwanis Award, and Emy Hefford, past Student Government President, received the A.A.U.W. citizenship award.

Class Day presentations were also made to Alice Beazley, who received the Chi Beta Phi Award as the outstanding science major; Kit Johnson in music; Mary Ann McDermott, dramatics; Mary Montague Hudson, service to Alpha Phi Sigma; scholastic fraternity; Carolyn S. Herel, classics, and Jean Durham, Spanish.

Beyond Graduation

It appears rather significant that the first issue of the campus newspaper in the 1957-1958 session should carry with it an Alumnae Supplement. Thus there is suggested, even made implicit, a vital connection between the present undergraduates and those who now think of the College as Alma Mater and whom the College in turn proudly and fondly calls alumnae, her daughters. This familial relationship undergoes a subtle but definite change once the stage beyond graduation is reached.

During student days there has surely been a friendly give-and-take in the classroom between teacher and student and similarly in all the other relationships concerned with campus activities, residential, cultural, social, recreational, organizational. But emphasis has been more largely on how the parent institution can assist the maturing daughter to cultivate her intellectual powers in an atmosphere that fosters her growth as a total individual. By degrees (not necessarily just through the attainment of a baccalaureate degree) the undergraduate step by step reaches commencement and is more ready to go beyond the limits of her college home. She begins to make her own contribution to a continuing heritage which heretofore she has of necessity accepted somewhat passively.

It is by this very acceptance from which she herself has profited that any student, whatever her length of stay on the campus, then assumes a more active role and becomes not only an alumna but also a potential member at least of the Alumnae Association. Herein lies the change—beyond graduation it is now more largely a matter of how the daughter, as an individual and in association with others like herself, can assist the College to continue and deepen, perhaps enlarge, its services to the growing number of young women who seek "higher education."

And it is at this point also that a further obligation rests upon the College—to keep her alumnae informed of current happenings and future plans, with suggestions as to how the alumnae might share in some of the planning and in bringing the dreams to tangible reality. This is a mutual task which the College and the Alumnae Association, both as a national organization and as separate chapters, can undertake over a period of years with expectancy and devotion. The possibility of future accomplishment is inviting but the road ahead may not be a royal one, nor will it be quick and

B. Rhodes Elected Class Agent by '57

One of the last things the class of '57 did before scattering to parts unknown was to elect Betty Ann Rhodes, of Richmond, class agent for the Alumnae Association. Betty Ann, who is now living in New York (55 East 93rd Street, Apt. 4-E, New York 28) with Carol Bogard and Jackie McClung, was vice-president of her Freshman class, a member of the Formal Dance Committee in her sophomore, junior and senior years, and class treasurer during her senior year.

She joins the ranks of other alumnae who serve the association and their individual classes by gathering and editing news for the Supplement. Other class agents are:

1911—Mrs. Waverly Lawson McCauley, Hylas; '12—Miss Jeannette Hess, Fredericksburg; '13—Mrs. Bel Pierce Beverley, 1912 Princess Anne Avenue, Richmond; '14—Mrs. Graham Mastin Englemann, Route 2, Mineral; '15—Mrs. Ruth Vellines, Beaverdam; '16—Mrs. Ina Taylor Powell, Cape Charles; '17—Mrs. Pearl Powell Smith, Cape Charles; '18—Mrs. Lula French Crockett, 2818 Key Boulevard, Arlington; '19—Mrs. Fannie Jenkins Donaldson, Moratito; '20—Miss Anne Cunningham, 1013 Charles Street, Fredericksburg; '21—Mrs. Blanche Jenkins Myers, R.F.D. 3, Bethesda, Maryland; '22—Mrs. Mary Massie Hammond, 913 Cornell Street, Fredericksburg;

Attention Class Agents! In order to make your material for Bulletin publication clearer and to the point, you are asked to follow these few rules which will aid your editorial advisor, and make your class news livelier and more interesting.

1. Please type all news; double-spaced on 8 1/2" x 11" paper.
2. Report weddings and births separately for "Wedding Belles" and "Baby Bunting" columns.
3. When you find any interesting story from among your class, please report as many details as possible; this will help us in planning our future feature articles.
4. Be sure to send your news in on time; deadline for the next issue is November 7.

Past Issues Wanted

Old copies of publications are needed! The library, announced Dr. Carol Quenzel, is missing copies of the 1918, 1919, 1921, 1924, 1935 and 1939 Battlediel. If any alumna owns a copy of one of those needed, and would be willing to donate it to the school for its archives the library staff would be most appreciative, and the donor's name would be engraved on the copy.

The Bulletin is also missing back copies. In order to put out a 30th Anniversary issue which will adequately cover its history, the student newspaper needs copies dating from 1928 until 1937. We would be happy to acknowledge the gifts in the special anniversary issue.

G. E. Shankle Dies After Long Illness

Served 28 Years in MWC English Dept.

Dr. George E. Shankle, former head of the English Department, died on May 30, 1957. He had been a member of the faculty since 1929, and he had planned to retire at the end of this year. Dr. Shankle had been ill for several months.

He was born in Henry County, Tennessee, on May 10, 1879. He held degrees from Union University, Valparaiso University, and George Peabody College. He had been head of English Departments at Union University, Carson-Newman College, Mississippi College and Oklahoma Baptist University.

He was a member of the Tennessee Philological Association, the American Association of University Professors, and Sigma Tau Delta, national English scholastic fraternity.

Dr. Shankle was the author, among other books, of "American Nicknames," "State Names, Flags, Seals, Songs, Birds, Flowers, and Other Symbols," "American Motives and Slogans," and "Current Abbreviations."

Grad's Illustrations Praised by Critics

Jo Alys Downs, a 1951 graduate of Mary Washington College with Honors in biology, has recently completed a series of drawings illustrating a translation from the Spanish of the book, Platero and I, by Juan Ramon Jimenez, the Nobel Prize winner in literature in 1956. The book in translation is by a Spanish teacher in Texas, Miss Eloise Roach, and it was published by the University of Texas Press. Several reviews—those in both the Times and the New York Herald Tribune Book Sections for example, have mentioned especially the fine quality of the drawings which illustrate this translation, stating that the text is greatly enhanced by the drawings by Miss Downs, and that they are especially in keeping with the subject matter.

Mary Rice Pomeroy and I enjoyed being back on the Hill at Homecoming last spring. There were more "old girls" than ever and that made it most interesting.

Everything possible was done to make our stay happy and we took in everything and took home wonderful memories. This year will be the college's 50th anniversary, so let's all plan to be at Homecoming in '58. And please let me hear some news from the 1916 girls for the next issue.

Two of our number were the recipients of prizes at the Alumnae Luncheon. Bett Hallett Goffigon for being the mother of the oldest daughter who had attended Mary Washington (Kathleen Goffigon Houston who won the first Alumnae cup, and Ruth Oliver Hines for being the mother of the largest number of children. Ruth has gone back to teaching after having been home for several years and doing the job of looking after her two sons and five daughters. She also has twin grandsons.

Elizabeth Halle Cioe is now hostess at the Hugh Mercer Apothecary Shop. Be sure to stop in to see her whenever you are in Fredericksburg.

"Y" Pamphlet Written

For the first time since 1953, the YWCA has written and printed a pamphlet in order to familiarize students with the organization.

The pamphlet, entitled "Why... Y" was written and compiled by Betty Williams, Publications chairman of "Y". Eight pages long, the pamphlet contains sections on Y's history, activities, cabinet and committees, and a calendar.

"Why... Y" was mailed to the freshmen during the summer and will be distributed to upperclassmen during the first week of school.

Pre-school

On Saturday at 9:00 Miss Moran spoke on the social aspects of the college community. In the afternoon a panel on students and faculty members discussed changes and gave ideas to the student leaders. The final event of the weekend was a banquet at 8:00 in Seaco-beck.

This conference was attended by members of the administration, head residents, maneuvers of student government, and student leaders.

to have new experiences, and I hope Mary Washington will help me to become a better and more interesting person, to realize what my capabilities are and how to use them to the best advantage. In short, to prepare for the future.

Virginia Brown, Gettysburg, Pa. . . I fully expect Mary Washington to be a gracious and charming school where I will be able to obtain a well-rounded, liberal arts education and have a wonderful time while learning.

Melanie Miller, Richmond, Va. . . My first and foremost expectation of college is the thorough, well-rounded education that I shall receive, provided I do my part. . . I realize that today higher education is more important than ever before. Therefore I am deeply grateful to all of those who have made my potential membership in the society of ambitious young women possible. Secondly, I am expecting to find other girls with whom I will live, study, work, and play, according to the role of behavior set down by Mary Washington. When I became a student at MW I shall begin to realize fully the meaning of responsibility and maturity.

Sue Ellen Peacock, San Antonio, Texas. Many Texas girls attend out-of-state schools probably because we feel isolated and wish to visit new places. I wanted to attend a school in Virginia because of its beauty and heritage. Mary Washington especially appealed to me because it is a part of the University of Virginia and because of this affiliation, it offers all the advantages of a large university and at the same time, those of a small women's college.

While at Mary Washington, I hope to succeed academically and also to learn in another way—the way of being far from home and making new friends, of busy weekends, and of visiting the cultural center of the nation.

First Convo Scheduled For Wednesday Night

An address by Dr. Grellet Simpson will be a part of the program of the first convocation of the year on Wednesday night, September 18. Under the revised plan made last Spring, this will be the first of four or five convocations this year which will be formal for seniors and compulsory for the entire student body. Next Thursday night, September 26, will be Loyalty Night, which is sponsored by the major student organizations.

The concert series this year, which will be held as usual in George Washington auditorium, will begin with the appearance of the Russian Ballet on December 12. Other scheduled programs include the Canadian Players' presentation of Othello on February 22, and the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra on March 13. The affairs, which are semi-formal, are optional.

Approximately four assemblies will be held this year (12:30 on Monday) which will be for student activities such as tapping.

Handbook counselors for 1957 have been appointed by a combined committee of Student Government, RA, ICA, and YWCA officers. These counselors, who will conduct freshmen training this semester, are especially chosen sophomores, juniors, and seniors who will explain Handbook regulations.

Stanley Allocates Money During Budget Tour

During Governor Stanley's Budget tour early this month, an allocation of $84,700 was made on-the-spot to Mary Washington to increase a planned 100 bed dormitory to one accommodating 144 students. In order to take advantage of the sloping ground on the proposed site, the college received the money from the Governor's discretionary fund. In order to meet an increased budget for 1958-1960, Chancellor Simpson also made public a proposed raise in tuition for both Virginia students and out-of-staters. A fifty dollar increase will have to be passed by the Board of Visitors later in the year, and will go into effect next year, if it is approved.

Nine Students Complete Degree Requirements

Nine students completed degree requirements during the 1957 summer session this year. The degrees will be conferred on June 2, 1958. August graduates were the following: Carlton Ann Adams, Vera Irene Baker, Nancy Moore Cavins, Sarah Ann Cook, Bonnie Estes, Theodora Gouvas, Nancy Lee Holmes, Betty Lee Robertson, and Sylvia Spivey Williams.

Cuts

No change has been made in the cut system for 1957 according to Dean Edward Alvey Jr. The system, which was studied by a faculty committee last spring, has not yet undergone final revision, and any decision on it will not come until later in the semester.

Study, Reading Course

A non-credit eight week intensive course in efficient methods of study and reading is being offered in September and February this semester which will be open to all students. Dr. John Faulstich of the psychology department will offer this special course at 10:30 and 11:30, Monday through Friday. Enrollment will be limited to 25 per class due to the necessity of carrying on much of the class activity through group discussion.

Instructional materials utilized include: study schedules, sample answers to examinations, and the Harvard Reading Films and Reading Selections. All students will be given a battery of tests during the course to aid in clarifying individual study problems. This course is open to freshmen.

YWCA Cabinet Greeted By New Meeting Place

New furnishings, new paint, and a new room will greet the 1957-58 YWCA Cabinet as they assemble for their first meeting of the session.

The new room, located in the former shuffleboard room of Ann Carter Lee, will replace the old "Y" room in Custis basement. The room, obtained and newly furnished during the summer, has many advantages over the old one. Being several times larger than the Custis room, the new room has ample space for Cabinet meetings, a drawing desk for the publicity committee, and with additional chairs, room for Association meetings.

easy. But it can be worthwhile and satisfying.

Those of us who are now privileged under Chancellor Simpson's leadership to have a share in the ongoing of your Alma Mater—our college—may adapt words from a presidential state-of-the-union message! "The state of this college is good, the heart of this college is sound, the spirit of this college is strong, the faith of this college is eternal."

Simpson Letter

your intellectual acumen, will be humbled by your sincerity and your frankness, will be impressed with your talents and your perception, will be somewhat surprised, yet delighted, with your idealism and your tolerance, your patience and your kindness.

All of us who are older really know that we are at your mercy. Yet for a time—perhaps four years, more or less—you will need to be at our mercy, after a fashion, in order to achieve the right and the privilege of exercising the responsibilities of maturity. You will like it most of the time; you will even get angry about it a few times. However, if you never let it become for you a fairy story, but rather a great moment in your life and an opportunity that not all young people are fortunate enough to experience, then four years from now you will have Mary Washington College and all of us at your mercy.

And we will be very proud and pleased.

Sincerely,
Grellet C. Simpson
Chancellor

Lectures Named For First Semester

Richmond Center Sends Seven Here

Seven outstanding speakers will appear at Mary Washington this semester under the auspices of the Richmond Area University Center. Dr. Benjamin Early, chairman of the committee, has announced the following lecturers for the first part of the semester. More may be scheduled later.

On October 17 at 7:30, Professor Conway Zirkle, Professor of Botany at the University of Pennsylvania, will speak.

Dr. Edward Hubler of Princeton will speak in the Browning room of E. Lee Trinkle Library on October 29 at 2:00 on "The Tragic World of Eugene O'Neill."

November 6 at 2:00 is the date of the lecture of Mr. Ordway Tead, an editor for Harper and Brothers Publishing Company.

In connection with the annual Mary Washington Contemporary Art exhibit, Mr. Hobson Pittman, a painter associated with the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts, will speak in DuPont Little Theatre on November 15 at 7:30.

Dr. Leonard Carmichael of the Smithsonian Institution will speak on psychion on December 3 at 4:00 p.m.

The topic "United States Foreign Policy in Asia" will be discussed on December 4 at 10:30 a.m. in Monroe auditorium by Mr. John Scott of Time Magazine.

These special interest programs for students and faculty members aroused much enthusiasm in students last year. They are presented by the group of colleges in the area so that each member has a chance to hear excellent speakers in many different subjects. Last year MWC employed more of these lecturers than any other college in the Association.

New Housemothers Join MWC Staff

Two new head residents join the Mary Washington staff this semester. They are Mrs. Frank E. Brennan of Danbury, Conn., and Miss Mary E. Dillard of Lanesville, Va., who will serve as alternating hostesses this year.

Mrs. Brennan, who has been living with her daughter in Arlington, has had much contact with young people throughout her life, and she also attended the Purdue Head Residents Conference in June. Miss Dillard formerly was associated with the University of Richmond.

230 Check Sheets Sent To Seniors by Registrar

Starting August 1, the office of the Registrar sent out over 230 Senior Check Sheets to returning Mary Washington students. These sheets are prepared individually for each student and help her to evaluate her progress so far. They include such information as credits in major, credits in related subjects, credits in required subjects, and credits and quality points to date, up to and including the summer session.
